

Psychology Research Colloquium

“Celebrating Psychological Research at Metropolitan State”

March 26, 2011, 2:00 PM

Metropolitan State University Library, Room 302 (EcoLab)

Program

Introduction

- Mark Stasson

Part I: Faculty Research and Its Role in Student Learning

- “Community Service as a Learning Environment “ -- August Hoffman
- “Motivating Distant Helping with Positive Emotion” -- Caitlin Mahoney
- “Connecting Faculty Research to Student Development” – Mark Stasson

Part II: Undergraduate Student Research Presentations

- “Involvement in a Research Group - The Student Perspective“ – Theresa Skaar, Trish Greene, and Tara McCoy
- “Perceived Control, Motivation, and Expectancies“ -- John Balko
- “IAM/EAM Two Factor Theory Model: A Comparative study of Mindfulness and Motivation“ -- Nancy Walter

Part III: Graduate Student and Alumni Research Presentations

- “Are Internet Technologies Stressful for College Students? “ -- Mark Tracy
- “Community Action Network (CAN)” -- Elvira Barnes-Wycough
- “Are We All in This Together?: Measuring the Sense of Community at Metropolitan State University “ – Anne Adabra & Patrick Thompson

Part IV: Conducting Research and the Human Subject Review Board

- Kerry Kleyman

Closing Remarks

This program is sponsored by the Psychology Club, Psi Chi (International Honor Society in Psychology), and the Center for Psychological Research